(About The Authors continued)

Quarterly, 1981. JAMES H. CRUTCHFIELD, who is a graduate student in the same department, has research interests in collective behavior, urban social psychology, and the sociology of religion.

PATRICIA YANCEY MARTIN (Gender in Social Exchange) holds a joint appointment as Professor in the School of Social Work and the Department of Sociology at the Florida State University. She has published many articles, primarily on formal organizations and gender roles, in a wide variety of journals. Her current research interests include institutionalized sexism in formal organizations. MARIE WITHERS OSMOND, an Associate Professor of Sociology at Florida State, has published a number of articles and chapters, with primary emphasis on gender roles, families in poverty, comparative marriage and family organization, and simulation games.

JERRY M. LEWIS (Crowd Control) is a Professor of Sociology at Kent State University. This paper reflects his current interest in crowd control at sporting events, fan violence, and the general area of sociology of sport. He co-authored, with T. Hensley, Kent State and May 4th: A Social Science Perspective (Kendall/Hunt Publishing, 1978).
